- 1- relevant publication record in the field of drug delivery system development, and membrane biophysics.
- 2- Proven experience in the production of different types of nanoparticles (organic, inorganic and hybrid), and physical and chemical processes of nanoparticles functionalization and coating.
- 3- Proven experience in advanced characterization techniques (Morphological, structural, chemical and electrochemical) of nanostructured platforms as biomimetic models. It will be also considered, the experience in different techniques namely SEM, TEM, EDS, XRD, SAXS, WAXS, DLS, zeta potential, infrared spectroscopy, UV-Vis spectroscopy, steady-state and time resolved fluorescence spectroscopies and DSC.

8. Pursuant to article 5 of RJEC, the selection is to be made based on the evaluation of the scientific and curricular career of the candidate.

9. Scientific and curricular career evaluation focuses on relevance, quality and up-to-datedness:

- a) of scientific or technological production, considered most relevant by the candidate;
- b) of research activities, fundamental or applied science, considered of higher impact by the candidate;
- c) of knowledge extension and dissemination activities, namely under the scope of the promotion of culture and scientific practices, deemed most relevant by the candidate;
- d) of activities of entrepreneurship and technology transfer;
- e) of activities of elaboration of applications for R&TD projects funding.

10. Evaluation criteria are the following:

10.1 Integrated assessment of the curriculum trajectory of the candidate, based on an overview of their scientific merits, namely:

a) Detailed CV (80%)

- diversity and quality of scientific indicators, including relevant published peer-reviewed articles, in the specific areas indicated in points 1 and 7 (20%)

- Capacity to recruit talented post-graduate students and participation in advanced training (10%)
- Networking skills, demonstrated through the scientific relevance of her/his international collaborations (10%)
- Track-record in obtaining competitive research funding to secure funding for her/his own activities as a group leader, show through a high level of fundraising (20%)
- Management expertise as demonstrated through her/his leading role in managing research projects and participation in governing bodies and ability to translate research findings into solutions or devices. (10%)
- Relevant experience, in the areas specified in point 7 (10%).

b) Declaration of interests/ motivation letter that includes (10%):

- a brief summary of the main research interests or projects (maximum 1200 characters).
- a brief summary of how the performed research has advanced the research field (maximum 1500 characters).
- a brief summary of how the research has had an impact beyond the research field, for example, societal impact, impact on other research fields etc. (maximum 1500 characters).
- up to 5 of your most notable and impactful publications (articles, books and book chapters) and a short explanation (maximum 600 characters each) of why you selected them.
- up to 5 key highlights of the research career excluding publications (for example, posters or talks at conferences, successful grant applications, scientific prizes, contribution to policy documents, patents or other technological innovations etc.) and a short explanation (maximum 600 characters each) of why you selected them.

c) A work plan for 3 years (maximum 10000 characters)(10%).

11. In the case of admitted candidates whose evaluation does not differ more than 10% from that obtained by the best positioned candidate, the jury will interview these candidates. This will be aimed at obtaining clarifications and explanations about the curricular elements and additional information as well as to evaluate the attitude profile and motivation of the candidate.

The final score of each jury member is obtained by the following assessment: 90% scientific and curricular career evaluation and 10% interview.
